PLATFORM:

Connect Space

TARGET AUDIENCE:

This webinar is for child and youth-serving providers and professionals from community-based organizations, schools, local health departments, child and adolescent health centers, healthcare organizations, violence prevention organizations, faith-based organizations, mental health organizations, and others interested in child and adolescent health issues.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS:

Application is being made for continuing education credits for physicians, nurses, social workers, health educators, school teachers/administrators and dental professionals.

UPCOMING EVENTS:

A second CASH Conference webinar is being planned for this August and the in-person conference will return in August 2025.

ABOUT THE WEBINAR:

This presentation will provide a broad overview of what data driven decision making is and why it is important to use data for making programmatic decisions. The process of data driven decision making will be discussed, including the types of data available and the pros and cons of the different types of data. Secondary data sources will be presented from both the local and state levels and attendees will engage with the presenter in an interactive walk-through of accessing data in a few secondary data sources.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER:

Tasha Kelley-Stiles, MSW, is an Evaluation Specialist at the Michigan Public Health Institute's Center for Healthy Communities. She has been involved in public health and violence prevention research for over 15 years. She currently acts as an evaluator on Michigan's Rape Prevention and Education Program, Michigan's Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program, Michigan's Family to Family Health Information Center, and various parent leadership projects. She is passionate about many topics in her position, including sexual violence prevention, children with special health care needs, and parent leadership. She received her Bachelor of Science in Psychology from Michigan State University and her Masters in Social Work from the University of Michigan.

REGISTRATION CLOSES ON MAY 6, 2024
