

Lunch & Learn: A Conversation with Dr. Craig Spencer

Time: Wednesday, July 30 from 12 to 1pm

Location: Virtual via Zoom

Open to all regional local health department staff

Register Here!

SPEAKER BIO

Craig Spencer, MD, MPH, is a professor of emergency medicine and public health at Brown University. With more than a decade of experience in humanitarian response, Dr. Spencer is a vocal advocate for equitable access to medical countermeasures on a local, national, and global scale. In addition to his expertise in humanitarian aid, Dr. Spencer is a champion for frontline and overall pandemic preparedness, studying the impacts of COVID-19 on health systems, clinicians, and patients from a humanitarian perspective. Dr. Spencer previously served on the Board of Directors for Doctors Without Borders USA and is currently a member of their Advisory Board.

DETAILS

This Lunch & Learn will feature an informational presentation as well as a moderated discussion with Dr. Spencer.

Moderator:

Juan Marquez, MD, MPH
Medical Director
Washtenaw County Health Department &
Livingston County Health Department

Topics that will be addressed include:

- Vaccine hesitancy – the history of anti-vaccine movements, historical public health responses to those movements, and similarities to the anti-vaccine movements, vaccine hesitancy, & public health response we see today
- Federal legislative activities and funding implications for local governmental public health
- Equitable access to medical countermeasures

QUESTIONS?

Please contact:

Patty Krause

krausep@washtenaw.org

Community Health Analyst

Washtenaw County Health Department

This Lunch & Learn is coordinated by the Washtenaw County Health Department

Washtenaw County
Health Department